

Healthy Play

Texas Deserves Healthy Parks. This program helps you build them.

Free CEUs. Funding Support. Statewide Recognition.

TRAPS Statewide Education and Funding Initiative

TRAPS, GameTime, PlayCore, and Cunningham Recreation are partnering to promote Healthy Play through education and funding opportunities. This initiative supports the creation of evidence-based play and recreation spaces across Texas.

Learn What Works: Free professional development events, including CEU opportunities, will train parks and recreation professionals, landscape architects, educators, school administrators, and play advocates on the role of play in building healthier communities.

Fund What Matters: GameTime is offering funding assistance to TRAPS members to establish National Demonstration Sites that prioritize inclusion, nature integration, physical activity, and adult fitness.

Prove the Impact: Data collection and outcome reports will highlight the benefits of play, supporting advocacy efforts and reinforcing the value of parks in Texas.
